

Post: Why AFA's Patreon support is so low

Created by Brittany Bunk on 15-May-2021

 Report

 Animal Rights

6

0

0

0

Content

I posted before about the AFA, but but was confused why the numbers were still so low after telling everyone about it. Well I found my answer.

When I email them, this is what they said in response:

"Thank you so much for supporting AFA and our lobbying efforts all this time.

We only have a few donors in Patreon because we migrated to using Donorbox as our donation processing system a long time ago. But rest assured that 100% of your donations are still going straight into lobbying. Currently we have 621 members donating to pay for our lobbyist, and we are looking into hiring more soon.

It would be much better if you would join as a member through Donorbox and cancel your Patreon donation, because then you will be in our synced database of members, who receive our newsletters and calls to action that help advance our cause, and also it makes it way easier for us from an accounting point of view to have everyone under Donorbox.

You can join via this page:

<https://www.agriculturefairnessalliance.org/join>"

Comments

Be the first to comment

