

Search

Post: BeneFaktorIndex® No Animal Testing Certificate

Created by Brittany Bunk on 24-Jun-2021

Fund raise

Animal Rights, Finance & Investment

18

1

2

1

Content

called "the world's first donation certificate" it allows people to donate to charity while investing!

"The starting line-up of the BeneFaktorIndex® No Animal Testing numbers just 13 groups. They include the two leading soda groups in Coca-Cola and Pepsi. The US duo took the decision a good 14 years ago neither to perform further experiments on animals nor to invest in their financing. PETA, the animal welfare organisation, had previously conducted a stubborn campaign to persuade the two companies to change their practices. This step failed to curtail the economic success of the drinks giants" read more at <https://structuredproducts-ch.leonteq.com/news/investment-themes/benefaktorindex>

ticker: <https://structuredproducts-ch.leonteq.com/isin/CH0596611514>

Lineup of stocks in this (what looks like an ETF) here:

COMPANY	COUNTRY	WEIGHTING
Chocoladefabriken Lindt & Spruengli AG	Switzerland	7.66%
Pernod Ricard SA	France	7.70%
Nissin Foods Co Ltd	Hong Kong	7.70%
Kikkoman Corp	Japan	7.91%
Suntory Beverage & Food Ltd	Japan	7.96%
Heineken NV	Netherlands	7.87%
Beyond Meat Inc	USA	7.94%
Campbell Soup Co	USA	6.81%
Coca-Cola Co	USA	7.61%
e.l.f. Beauty Inc	USA	6.95%
Kellogg Co	USA	7.55%
Natura & Co Holding SA	USA	8.83%
PepsiCo Inc	USA	7.51%

Add new comment

Comments

Not vegan or cruelty-free

 • 1 Like |  • 1 Reply

Brittany Bunk

27-Jun-2021

Thanks for pointing that out. It has some vegan brands, like elf and beyond meat. I just posted it, because it's pro-vegan with the no animal testing aspect. It's true that it's not a vegan vegan portfolio

