Juice, vinegar, and alcohol is made from upcycling the surplus foods that may normally go to waste by turning it into a commercial product.

"GB range of products uses the abundance of surplus grapes and blueberries in The UK.

Every year there are tons of grapes & blueberries that become surplus to supply.

We use part of this... to create our range of GB products.

This project is a clear win-win for everyone involved. Food waste is a global challenge and reducing it has become a high priority in any CSR for supermarkets.
