All the more reason to not eat meat - the industry can't get its act together:

"Greater Omaha Packing, an Omaha, Nebraska meat processor, is recalling select products produced on July 13, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service announced late Thursday.

The products may be contaminated with the strain of Escherichia coli O157:H7 and have an establishment number "EST. 960A" inside the USDA mark of inspection."
