Beef, pork, and poultry increased substantially due to recalls (in my previous articles), which isn't mentioned in the Biden-Harris Administration stimulus for the meat industry. <https://www.whitehouse.gov/briefing-room/blog/2021/09/08/addressing-concentration-in-the-meat-processing-industry-to-lower-food-prices-for-american-families/>

This administration previously campaigned against meat only to support it in their presidency, which is hypocritical. They're providing $1.4 billion to animal agriculture, which is horrendous. It undoes a lot of work done by veganism. In addition, it doesn't address the real cause that meat is unsustainable and got faced with pandemics of its own, only to promote the meat industry further.

Meat rises in price during pandemics, because it's unsustainable to grow and funding can't support a cheap price for it. It should be stayed away from to survive economic shortfalls.
