

273 1.4k 56 37 1.1k

Background
By "virtual" it means not in person. It doesn't have to be completely digital though. A person could just study material on their own through books, observing nature, etc., but it could also mean following through a class online.

☞ Digital learning is really taking form, with most classes now have some digital (like having computers or online resources) or a hybrid component to them. What started as open courseware and massively open online courses (MOOCs), now people can go through K-12 virtually, and even complete degrees online in entirety too.

☞ www.achieve.com This discussion isn't talking about one-time events, like going into the world to experience something, but learning in a classroom.

Discussion Topology

Tags

- Schooling
- K-12
- Online
- Alternative
- College

Participants	Claims	Contributions	Votes
vegforlife	152	763	6
Tsax	52	242	2
avada	29	284	0
Jonathan123	5	8	0
fnerd	4	0	0
toosoo	3	24	0
dcspensley	2	7	0
stephycicenta	2	2	32
13cashesvs31	2	2	0
lunakani	2	0	0
jaysharp	2	0	0
Five_of_swords	2	0	0
BrettVO	1	8	0
AlienDad	1	5	1
Artisan	1	4	0
Pursue_of_Liberty	1	3	0
skarmanya	1	3	0
JaysonW	1	2	0
Carol_1822	1	2	0
EvilHeather	1	1	0
ckumwaka	1	1	0
mellamankilla	1	0	0
PingPongHero	1	0	0
Xlutecutli	1	0	0
fishoutofwater	1	0	0
systemrelevant	1	0	0
DaveB	1	0	0
Syon	1	0	0
jarrah02	0	3	6
omniface	0	2	0
garron	0	1	0
TJlansMom	0	1	0
ee2son	0	1	0
SimonaPetrescuAncuta	0	1	0
GiftNinja	0	0	7
MissMellor	0	0	1
Hammer0001	0	0	1