Cheaper:

- because they're freeze dried, they last a lot longer than the beyond meat that's refrigerated.
- You don't have to use it up all at once like refrigerated items do
- it's really versatile in replacing other items, like croutons

More Ethical:

- Beyond Meat has canola oil - which I mentioned in another post isn't vegan. This doesn't have that

Both of them sell with non-vegan brands, so there's no comparison on that, but outside of that, this is the better option!
