

Post: Scientists in Taiwan are growing coral reefs on wind turbines

Created by Brittany Bunk on 05-Jun-2022

 Article

 Environment

 0

 0

 0

 0

Content

"The idea behind Ørsted's ReCoral project is to use relatively stable water temperatures to limit the risk of coral bleaching and allow healthy plants to grow on the foundations of the turbines."

Could offshore wind turbines actually help coral reefs survive?

<https://www.euronews.com/green/2022/05/06/scientists-in-taiwan-are-growing-coral-reefs-on-wind-turbines>

Comments

Be the first to comment

