Most people likely have seen vegan documentaries and associate the vegan lifestyle with them. With vegans especially, they are repetitive and sometimes depressing, so here's a list more entertaining and light-hearted to indulge over (even if it's not completely vegan, these at least put vegan in some spotlight) to enjoy veganism for what it is:

Notes:

- a lot of these are set in space, which really says a lot about the flexibility and lower resource use of veganism compared to meat.
- Thank you IMDB for creating this list: <https://www.imdb.com/list/ls046938424/>. It's pretty similar to mine, but with more detail :)
- By far - Disney has produced more vegan movies than anyone else
- I removed movies from the Vegan Hacktivists list that I felt had no vegan elements to it or weren't vegan
- movies with vegan elements that are prevalent in many movies or elements that are ambiguous if they're vegan or not are left out of the list

Legend

- ampersand (&) - inappropriate or sensitive content
- asterisk (*) - negativities of veganism

ok I admit it - Disney really hit the bar on this list when it comes to animal rights in movies

If I make a future article about non-gory, really insightful documentaries that aren't specifically about veganism, I'd put Aluna (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ftFbCwJfs1I>) and Before the Flood (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zbEnOYtsXHA>), but the latter got debunked

I saw a lot of these movies. Anyone else saw anything that isn't on here but is vegan?

It's funny, but a lot of vegan movies are in space - maybe because veganism is seen as sci-fi or something?

this list is much longer than the original I created if anyone wants to take a look at the new list hey I remember that one - people talked about it in the 90s - they were a little freaked out and intrigued by it and didn't talk about it much. I might've watched it too. Thanks!

Our new vegan themed mini-documentary/music video, "It's OK To Love Me", is now available on our new website. Please click the link and focus on the video because there's a lot going on that you should not miss.

Love me (Anthem for Equality), soon explodes into a compelling visual spectacle as layers of abuse are exposed.

Please post and/or share everywhere. Thank you. Aloha!

Feel free to look at <https://beyondanimal.com/resource/UserResource/view/Vegan-songs-by-Genre-QUzfdozdXO> to see if they can be added there or already are. Also it's nice to see all the vegan songs there. I looked at the song - and don't see anything really about veganism in there, so I didn't add it, but if you have anything else, feel free to let me know.

Thanks. Showing what's available to enjoy in veganism is missing in society and so I fill in.
