About:

Happycow.net is a site that allows those who want to find vegan businesses to be able to.

How to use it:

Put in your location and it'll provide options, especially when filtered (using the filters)

Contribute:

Although cities would have an appropriate number of listings, it's the suburbs and rural areas that might not be. To find locations and add them in would help those there find what they need with a sparse selection!

Beyond Animal is also building out this within its business directory. It has geo-location as well. If you know businesses that have great vegan products, please tell them to join! Or you can even insert the business with limited information as a non-owner and we will transfer it over to them when they come to the platform.
