

Science should get more governmental funding.

SUGGESTED PRO

More funding from government could encourage/lead to reduced university tuition fees for students; this could lead to a more socio-economically diverse range of students being able to engage and progress in science. This could have wide ranging positive impacts across a variety of sectors, including the fight for wider inclusivity in science and indeed society as a whole.

@vegforlife Hi there! The discussion title is really interesting and I'm excited to work on the debate with you. I wanted to help with the structure of the debate. I was hoping you could give me admin rights so I can assist you in making the debate better.

@toosoo yeah, you really earned it. I saw you were taking on the role and just helped that along by making it official :)

how does it look?

You (8.8k) · 10mo

@bhattstatts @toosoo y'all are on fire for developing the discussion as a team. Way to go!

You (8.8k) · 10mo

@vegforlife there are many pending suggestions. Shall we hide those or did you leave them there intentionally?

toosoo (2.2k) · 10mo

@toosoo I leave them there intentionally, as I take time away from claims to come back to months later with fresh eyes and perspective to try to bring in claims that I wasn't able to originally. I really try to give people a chance to have their ideas heard and used publically - as that's what they want.

You (8.8k) · 9mo

if it's offensive or just saying 'yes' or 'no' - you know, it's true unsalvageable - those are ok to hide. Any fragmented sentence or something with substance is preferred not to.

@vegforlife I've given @Kialo321 admin rights in the debate to help us out. They've added good quality claims in the debate and have shown an interest to improve it bhattstatts (2x) · 9mo

@bhattstatts that's not what I would've done - but they are nice and helpful. I don't mind that admins do this - provided they see potential in them. So if you found potential in them that I didn't, that's cool! Thanks for letting me know (although it's not really required if you don't want to :))

@haddouston Hi, I added you in - but since you place everything at the top - tag me so I can move your claims to where they need to be - until you figure it out. support.kialo.com help

NEW MESSAGE

@haddouston Since there are plenty of top level claims, it would be good if you could make claims in more appropriate locations by delving deeper into the debate.
