The person running the National Vegan Credit Union wants to do just that - maybe you can help them out. They said it takes $250k to start it, so we'd all have to pitch in

Purpose looks good, I've signed up! Also like Bank of the West and seeing more people question who they bank with is always a good thing. I recently took part in a XR sharklays.co.uk action outside the local Barclays bank, where we had positive responses from its customers.

cool, but I don't see where it says it's vegan

I was going to put here aspiration banking, but the more I looked at it, the less vegan it seemed. It's hypocritical - I mean Bank of the West is too, but at least they can be held accountable with their full financial disclosures
