

E-vacations (i.e. virtual travel) can replace real ones.

Pros	Cons
Virtual vacations can be more personalized.	All sort of information (images, descriptions) can be found on the internet, but tourism hasn't declined. People are still interested in the world.
It's entirely possible to have one now.	E-tools can't replace genuine experiences.
Negative aspects of a real vacation can be removed from the vacation experience.	Can virtual sex replace real sex? Most likely NEVER. It would defeat our biological purpose on Earth just like e-travelling would dissolve sensorial perceptions of our 5 senses, we would be visiting a dull world. However, I am not denying the size of pornography market.
They preserve localities more.	It would take away the real experience process of going there and exploring it. Getting from place to place on feet.
They're easier to accomplish.	It's less private.
It's safer.	It's not as personal.
They're more flexible.	It's not going to be socially accepted.
They're more eco-friendly.	It's not real enough.
	Many sites would be left undiscovered if no one goes there.
