Fresh Herbs - Can't Wait

You're going to prepare a family dinner (roasted pork tenderloin and oven baked quartered red potatoes) and you realize all you have is dried basil, thyme, and some leftover parsley in the fridge that's shriveled. Not anymore! My 6 pod AeroGarden is working great and is in its 14th

5 month nightmare

I started trying to grow herbs and then tomatoes 5 and a half months ago..I fed the plants as directed, pruned them as per instructions, watered them and made sure the lights were on 15 hours a day as told to do. The herbs hardly grew at all. After 3 months they were tiny shriveled is working great and is in its 14th day. Very easy to set up, just follow the instructions. The unit asks you what kind of pods you are trying to grow and adjusts the LED lights accordingly. The unit is complete with a built-in recirc pump and water level sensor. I have re-purposed and old syringe that I used for re-filling printer ink cartridges (well cleaned of any leftover ink, of course) and use it to dispense the 8 ml of AeroGarden plant food when prompted by the Classic Unit LED display....

months they were only suffering with little leaves and nothing to eat. One of the pods did have a very large bug which crawled out after a week leaving a hole and no plant. When I tried a few tomato plants they grew like crazy. I had to keep pruning them because the plants grew into the light and burned..After months dozens of flowers appeared. I pollinated them as per instructions and following a video ...

An easy and fruitful system to grow...

The plants grow quickly and taste great. The system is easy to set up and easy to maintain. I love the fact that the instructions are right there so I don't forget to feed the plants and keep them watered.

Students love watching plants grow!

I bought one of the earlier Harvest models during the summer and loved it so much I took it to my classroom and bought a second to keep at home. I grow herbs and vegetables at home and flowers at school. My students (6-7 grade) love to come in and see the plants growing, and having live plants in the classroom has added a nice touch to this schoolyear. Several of my co-workers have ordered units for their homes as well. I absolutely recommend Aerogarden!

AMAZING

I received this last Christmas and was just amazed at how proliferative everything was!!! We had salads constantly with the lettuce, fresh herbs when needed (I even dried them to use later I had so much) and the polka-dot plant is still growing (I planted in soil in a pot right in the pods!) and producing flowers in my sunroom!! I just ordered this for my daughter for Christmas as she was so amazed. No need to have a green thumb to enjoy this year round.

Loving it

I purchased the Harvest Aerogarden almost 3 weeks ago. I really enjoy watching my herbs grow everyday. My basils, dill & mint are growing really well, but as of yet my thyme hasn't sprouted. I'm hoping it does soon. My hubby is enjoying watching the herbs grow, most importantly, he is anxious to use the herbs in his spaghetti sauces & soup lol. All in all I'm very happy with my purchase.
